

Brand Guidelines

2023

The Logo

Primary Logo

Our logo is crucial to the branding of Chinoy TV.

It must be used in all materials, and prominently displayed according to the brand guidelines below.

Logo Usage

You may use either of the color variations of the logo, depending on the color of the background of the material.

The logo must stand out at all times in all materials to ensure brand visibility.

Logo Usage

If either of the colorways of the main logo blend into the background, use a black or white version of the logo.

This must be used sparingly, and only when absolutely necessary.

Logo Scaling

The logo must be visible and legible in all materials.

It must not be too small that it is illegible, nor should it be too big that it takes away from the content of the material.

Rule of Thumb: The logo should be around 15% of the headline size.

The minimum size for the logo is 20px (0.21 inch) in height.

Given the variation of sizes in digital materials, see the Logo Placement section for a more detailed version of the logo scaling within different social media use.

CHiNOY^{TV} — 20 px (0.21 inch)

Logo Placement

The logo should not be crowded by any other element in the material, nor should it be placed on a busy background.

Clearspace

There should be at least 10% of clearspace around the logo. For guidance, you may use the “TV” around all sides of the logo to ensure proper spacing.

Alignment & Margins

The logo should match the overall alignment of the post, especially for static social media posts.

Margins vary depending on the nature of the material, but a general rule of thumb is to allot at least 5% of the material for the margin.

Partnerships

When creating materials that entail partnerships with at least one brand, the Chinoy TV logo must be prioritized to maintain hierarchy.

One Brand

When partnering with one brand, the Chinoy TV must be on the left hand side of the material, to ensure that Chinoy is the first to be read. A line may be placed in between the two logos, and the clearspace between Chinoy TV's logo and the line must be maintained.

The size of the partner brand must be the same size and not bigger than the Chinoy TV logo.

Partnerships

When creating materials that entail partnerships with at least one brand, the Chinoy TV logo must be prioritized to maintain hierarchy.

Two or More Brands

When partnering with two or more brands, the logo of ChinoyTV must be more distinct and given more emphasis in comparison to the partner brands. The logo of the company must be given priority and hierarchy in terms of readability and visibility.

This can be done through separating the main brand and partner brands, with Chinoy TV's logo either at the left or on top of the partner brands, or through size distinction.

Colors

Color Palette

The Chinoy TV color palette maintains a clean and professional look that is reminiscent of the peaceful colors of Shanghai and the variety of teas. These colors are not harsh to the eyes and are calming in nature.

The primary color palette should comprise at least 70% of every material, while the secondary color palette should comprise a maximum of 30% of the material.

Ensure a proper balance between the different colors to avoid overpowering or overwhelming materials.

Primary	 PEACH BLOSSOM #ED8764 237 135 100	 JADE GREEN #01794F 1 121 79	 GINGER TEA #F4D8C4 244 216 196

Secondary

Gradients

Gradients can be used for a more premium look within a given material. These gradients are an extension of the initial color palette above.

Ensure that only one gradient is used in a single frame or material to keep the minimalist aesthetic of the brand.

Typography

Typography

MAIN TYPEFACE

For our primary typeface, we use TT Commons for our headlines and titles. It is a humanist sans serif typeface which is the most legible sans typography. This exudes a more modern aesthetic to balance between the traditional Chinese elements.

We use Open Sans for our body font, which is also a humanist sans serif typeface to ensure readability of our font, and still maintain a minimalist look.

ADDITIONAL TYPEFACES

We also have additional typefaces, specific to Chinese characters.

Songti can be used for the purpose of translating the English in-art copy.

X-OTF Haolong can be used as a more decorative font, whether in the background or as a main heading.

The Basics

HEADLINE

When using TT Commons, set leading to point size x0.9. Keep letter tracking set to 0, and kerning should always be in Metric.

BODY FONT

For general body text, set leading to point size x1.2, rounded to the nearest whole number. Keep letter tracking set to 15, and kerning should always be in Metric.

Tips

BE MINDFUL OF HIERARCHY.

Use different techniques such as font usage, scale, spacing, and margins to establish a clear distinction between headlines, subheadings and body copy.

SUBHEADING.

Choose a subheading style that compliments the main headline. Pair with adequate spacing to achieve designs that have a clear hierarchy and are easily navigable.

BODY COPY.

In most instances, body text should be set in Open Sans Regular. This will ensure legibility and accessibility for longer amounts of copy. The minimum recommended size for body copy is 10 points, however this is subject to change depending on requirements of the material.

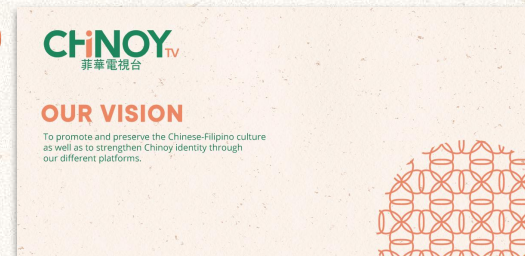

Do Not:

Do not use colors for text that are not included in the branding.

Do not add text to the logo to create lock-ups.

Do not enlarge the logo as big as the headline. Ensure visibility of the logo, but do not distract from the text.

Do not use TT Commons or X-OTF Haolong as body copy. Use Open Sans or Songti (for Chinese characters)

Do not use other fonts that are not included in the manual, unless absolutely necessary or for special campaigns.

Do not use colors that blend into the background. Ensure readability of the text always.

Design Elements

Patterns

Patterns that are reminiscent of Chinese and/or Filipino textures can be used throughout the different materials.

These patterns must be minimalist in nature, therefore, it should either blend properly with the background. Patterns must not be too thick or too detailed to maintain a clean and professional look, fitting to the branding of Chinoy TV.

Patterns should use colors aligned to the color palette provided.

Illustrations

Watercolor illustrations of China and symbols that are akin to the Chinese culture can also be used to enhance the overall material.

These must not use any bright or jarring colors, nor should it have too many elements in order to maintain the quiet, calming, and professional look and feel of the brand.

Pegs/Inspiration:

Brush Strokes

Brush strokes are flexible in nature. It can be used as background elements, and it can be used as a decorative element to add to the character of the material.

It can also be used to accentuate important details to provide emphasis within the material.

Again, these must use the color palette found above.

Brush stroke Chinese calligraphy can also be used as design elements.

Circles

The circle can be used as a design element, given its substantial value to Filipino and Chinese culture.
